

WHAT IS THE MMPR (MARIHUANA FOR MEDICAL PURPOSES REGULATIONS)

The Marihuana for medical purpose regulations (MMPR) as of April 1st 2014 replaced the Medical marihuana access program (MMAR) giving Health Canada regulated licensed producers the legal right to produce and sell medical cannabis to prescribed patients across Canada. There are currently over 25 licensed producers and over 45,000 medical cannabis patients in Canada and this number is expected to grow over the next ten years to 450,000 medical cannabis patients.

Under the new MMPR program qualified patients can have a health care practitioner complete a medical document (prescription) and register the qualified patient with one of the licensed producers. Purchasing medical cannabis is as easy as placing a phone call or logging into that respected licensed producers website and placing your order electronically. All cannabis is delivered right to your door discreetly with no packages left behind unless the package is signed for. If the recipient is not home the package is then taken to the post office and a delivery notice is left, with directions on how to obtain your package.

Prices and quality range from licensed producer to licensed producer and Karmacann Consulting has taken the guess work out of the equation for you and only recommended the best licensed producers based on quality/price and customer service. Prices range from 3.75$ to 9.00$ per gram of medical cannabis. Compassionate pricing is also available for those who qualify.

Payments for medical cannabis from licensed producers can be made by credit card/money order/e-transfer or cheque. Please review the licensed producers section of this website for more details.
